Devon Terry is a custodian at Clara Hearne Pre-K Center in Roanoke Rapids.

...he has a good work history — we are all about removing barriers and helping people become sufficient,” she said. “I love my job as a custodian — I like keeping the bathrooms clean, keeping the whole school clean and clean from COVID-19 virus.” One day he went into the Choa- noke Area Development Association seeking employment. Barbara Fleming, Community Services Block Grant case manager of CADA, helps with housing and employment. She said Terry had worked at Clara Hearne for two months as a temporary employee. Clara Hearne staff reached out to Fleming seeking a reference for Terry, as they considered to hire him full-time.

NAVY-AND-TEAL
Northampton County will host Northside's haste and power with the forces of Isaac, who is in the form of a hurricane, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. The hurricane center last week warned of a 442-mile radius.

Combined, Nos. 7 and 8 rushed for 38 yards and four touchdowns.

And should Northside's lead last, fans of the navy-and-teal should expect freshman wideout Isaac Blake — whose sure-handedness has passed for 86 yards and two scores this postseason — to play the picture fulfillers. Lastly, there's the early-down wrinkle, the boot of Northside's kicker, Tominin, who is averaging 39.4 yards per kickoff this season. Blake likely won't nickel's group attack to begin drives in the second half.

Not to worry, however, as Privott and Co. are prepared to survive any field position depth, as the Panthers. "We'll just settle with where we get the ball," said when asked if an early-down wrinkle might be utilized to offset any bad-scoring, down-and-distance scenarios. Comfort?

Over-confidence?

Which is to be expected, of course, from a coach and a program that has paid visit to this stage before. All that remains now is to see if they can do it again.
